

Tuesday Mornings at 8:00 AM

George Auditorium, Rhode Island Hospital

Hurvitz Board Room 1, The Miriam Hospital (teleconferenced from RIH)

Room 653, VA Medical Center (teleconferenced from RIH)

Library Video Room, Newport Hospital (teleconferenced from RIH)

July 5, 2011:

CANCELED

July 12, 2011:

Geriatrics Update

“Geriatrics Update”

Aman Nanda, M.D., Director, Geriatrics Ambulatory Care and Home Care Program, Rhode Island Hospital, Attending Physician, Division of Geriatrics, Rhode Island and The Miriam Hospitals; Associate Professor of Medicine, The Warren Alpert Medical School of Brown University

Objectives: At the conclusion of this conference, participants should be able to: Recognize adverse drug events resulting from prescribing inappropriate medications; Recognize the clinical course of patients with advanced dementia complicated by pneumonia and G-tube feeding; Recognize the importance of Medicine consultations in reducing mortality in orthopedic trauma patients.

July 19, 2011:

Gastroenterology Update

“New Anti-HCV Therapy”

Kittichai Promrat, M.D., Chief, Section of Gastroenterology, Providence VA Medical Center; Staff Gastroenterologist, Director of Hepatology Clinic, Rhode Island Hospital; Associate Professor, Division of Gastroenterology and Hepatology, Department of Medicine, The Warren Alpert Medical School of Brown University

Objectives: At the conclusion of this conference, participants should be able to: Recognize new treatment strategies for chronic hepatitis C.

“Update on Inflammatory Bowel Disease: Where are we?”

Adam D. Harris, M.D., Attending Physician, Division of Gastroenterology, Department of Medicine, Rhode Island Hospital; Assistant Professor of Medicine, The Warren Alpert Medical School of Brown University

Objectives: At the conclusion of this conference, participants should be able to: Recognize the main treatment modalities for Crohn’s disease and ulcerative colitis; Identify what else to watch for in the IBD patient.

July 26, 2011:

The 11th Annual Grace McLeod Rego Memorial Lecture

“One and the Same Family”

Ethan D. Fried, M.D., Director of Graduate Medical Education and Vice Chair for Education, Department of Medicine, St. Luke’s-Roosevelt Hospital Center, New York City; Assistant Professor of Clinical Medicine, College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University

Objectives: At the conclusion of this conference, participants should be able to: Describe the examples that suggest that there are disparities in health care services and outcomes which are the result of race; Advance the level of their communication with patients with limited health literacy; Anticipate potential areas of misunderstanding between doctors and patients of differing cultures and values.

To request reasonable accommodation for a disability, please contact the Rhode Island Hospital CME office at (401) 444-4260. This is a live format activity.

